Gadgets help keep you, your dog in focus

Chicago Sun-Times, Mar 27, 2007

The Micro I.D. Rescue Collar, a high-tech pet collar from PetSafe, can help lost pets find their way home.

Hidden inside the pet collar is a USB flash drive that can store vital information about your pet, including its name, your phone numbers and its vet records. Should your pet get lost, anyone who finds the lost animal can plug its collar into a computer's USB drive and quickly discover the pet's identity.

And if someone without computer access discovers your pet, the collar also contains a toll-free number to the PetSafe Rescue Service. The collar costs about $40 at www.petsafemicroid.com
