

Are You and Your Dog the Gossip of the Neighborhood?

Your annoyed neighbors can now find relief by visiting new web site, stopmyneighborsdog.com

Knoxville, TN – December 22, 2009 – Has excessive dog barking driven you to your breaking point? Does your neighbor's dog bark from sun up to sun down? Or perhaps you're the one getting the "If your dog barks one more time I'm going to..." glare. In an effort to help end neighbor suffering from annoying woofs, yaps, howls, and growls, PetSafe, the industry leader in pet training products, is excited to launch stopmyneighborsdog.com.

Understanding that not just fences but good bark control make good neighbors, PetSafe's new Stop My Neighbor's Dog program allows victimized neighbors to subtly point out dog barking annoyances by sending anonymous letters to the offending pet parent. Bark victims can visit stopmyneighborsdog.com where they will have the option to email or physically mail the bark offender a problem enlightening message, the latest bark control tips, a coupon for bark solution products, or an actual bark solution product.

If you and your dog are the ones at fault, don't wait for a letter to be posted on your front door. PetSafe knows that bark-free miracles don't happen overnight. Click on over to stopmyneighborsdog.com and print out a "we're trying our best" letter from you and your dog to give to the neighbors. They will appreciate your efforts and reconsider their plots to kick you out of the neighborhood.
