

Lend Us Your Voice!

PetSafe Blog is designed to educate and assist pet owners in understanding their pets, sharing stories about the best moments we share with our pets, and how to strengthen the bond between pets and their owners. We encourage the authors to be creative and innovative and come up with articles that both entertain and educate. Each new blog on the PetSafe Blog may fall into an Education or Feature blog. We prefer that you focus on a specific topic and cover it completely. "Education" blogs that focus on a specific topic (such as a specific training technique, medical subject, etc.) are encouraged.

Queries

If you have a story or a story idea, send an email outlining your article idea before submitting a manuscript. We read and respond to all queries, but expect at least a week wait for that response. Selected editorials may be published at a future date to correspond with seasonal relevance or needs of the PetSafe Blog. All submissions are on speculation, even if you receive a positive response to a query. First time writers should include a brief biography (approximately 40 words). Send all queries, correspondence, and submissions to social@petsafe.net.

Submissions

Once we have confirmed your article for publication, we'll provide the details of your submission deadline. A complete article submission should include the finished article in a current version of Microsoft Word, a selection of the required, quality digital images in JPG format, and photo captions. Your name, address, telephone number, and email address should appear on all submitted materials and in the upper left corner of the first page of the article.

The PetSafe Blog appreciates and will consider unsolicited submissions; however, we are not responsible for unsolicited submissions or for the safety of submissions not in our possession.
